Full Stack Developer specialized in Frontend, with a background in Sociology and Music. My curiosity, creativity, and attention to detail fuel my drive to explore web development, blending technology with insights from sociology and music as I build my career in this dynamic field. I have worked in teams within academic settings and collaborative projects, combining technical, creative, and teamwork skills to tackle challenges effectively.

I have knowledge in JavaScript, TypeScript, HTML, and CSS, along with experience using frameworks and tools such as React, Next.js, and Tailwind. My C2-certified English proficiency allows me to confidently collaborate with international teams.

I aim to grow as a Full Stack Developer specializing in Frontend by contributing to web and mobile projects, while continuously expanding my tech stack.
